Player of the Year – Andrew McGann, Gettysburg, Sr., D

Notes

- McGann is the first defenseman to earn Centennial Player of the Year honors. He is the third consecutive and the eighth Gettysburg player overall to receive the award.
- Read becomes the 19th player in Conference history to earn first-team All-Centennial laurels three times.
- Read, Mangin and Kehoe were first-team repeaters from 2007.
- DeLuca and Farris are Muhlenberg's first-ever first-team All-Centennial selections.
- Ursinus' Dane and Derrin Mangin are the first brothers to both earn All-Centennial honors in the same season since Brian (Dickinson) and Chris (Washington) Read both received first-team nods in 2006.
- Gettysburg's five first-team selection raises its total to 63 first-teamers since the Conference began in 1994. Washington is second with 46 selections, while Franklin & Marshall (26), McDaniel (16), Haverford (11), Dickinson (4), Muhlenberg (2), Swarthmore (2) and Ursinus (2) follow.
